

CALL FOR PAPERS

SPECIAL ISSUE ANNOUNCEMENT

The Journal of Immunotherapy and Precision Oncology (JIPO) is seeking submissions for an upcoming issue special issue devoted to sarcomas that will be curated by Guest Editor, Dr. Herbert Loong. The issue will include original research, reviews, case reports, and more.

The Editors have suggested the following topics:

- The role of checkpoint inhibition in the management of sarcomas
- Cell-based therapies for sarcomas
- The role of targeted therapies in the immunotherapy era
- Beyond NTRK fusion – “New Kids on the Block” in sarcomas
- Combining treatment modalities and multidisciplinary approach in the management of sarcomas (e.g., nanoparticle injection as radiosensitizer, RT + IO agents, etc.)
- Neoadjuvant therapies and “window-of-opportunities” studies for sarcomas
- Next-generation sequencing in sarcomas – mandatory or a luxury?

TO BE CONSIDERED FOR THE SPECIAL ISSUE, MANUSCRIPTS MUST BE SUBMITTED BY DECEMBER 31, 2019.

JIPO publishes high-quality manuscripts that appeal to a broad readership of healthcare professionals and scientists, especially those with an interest in oncology and immunology. The Journal publishes innovative original research including translational science and clinical medicine, systematic and narrative reviews, letters, and invited commentary and editorials.

For more information and to submit your article, go to www.jipoonline.org
or email the Editorial Office: editor@jipoonline.org